

A Boy From Sand Castles To Castles

There lives a boy in a small town of Greenland

Loves to make castles in his own Dreamland

When teacher asks for his Ambitions

He replied with unseasoned Resolutions

All the kids laughed at him Sarcastically

But he is the King of his Kingdom Mentally

They replied boys from Slums hopelessly Jumps

But the boy is ready to give some Goosebumps

All bully him as a King of Sand Castles

But he remains quiet and doesn't Rattles

Work hard in the day at Farms

Study hard in the dark at Warms

All alone no one besides him

But believes that God sides him

One day his hard work pays off

Selected as a man for whom one can dream off

All who laughed are quiet

He is the one who joyed

They replied we are the one living in the sand castles

He is the one dreaming for the true castles
